Customer information

RoHS (Guideline 2002/95/EU - 2011/65/EU for the restriction and use of certain dangerous materials in electrical and electronic devices, Restriction of Hazardous Substances) WEEE (Guideline 2002/96/EG, Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment)

Guideline 2002/95/EG – 2011/65/EU (RoHS) requires that new electrical and electronic equipment introduced in the market on or after July 1, 2006 may not contain materials listed in the RoHS directive, such as lead, mercury, cadmium, chromium (6), polybrominated diphenyl ethers (PBDE/PBB) and decabromodiphenyl (deca-BDE) which exhibit the defined limits. With the release of Guideline (EU) 2015/863, 31.03.2017, the following limitations are additionally valid:

- < 0.1 % (Gewicht) DEHP (Di(2-ethylhexyl) Phthalate)
- < 0.1 % (Gewicht) BBP (Butylbenzyl Phthalate)
- < 0.1 % (Gewicht) DBP (Di-butyl Phthalate)
- < 0.1 % (Gewicht) DIBP (Diisobutyl Phthalate)

Our business approach is characterized by a high sense of responsibility in relation to our employees, market partners, suppliers and the protection of our environment. These principles are reflected in our corporate rules as well as in our quality management system, ISO 9001:2015. We are therefore certain that the topic of environmental sustainability is integrated into all our processes, both today and in the future. We hereby confirm that the R&M product assortment, to which this directive applies, follows the guidelines as stated in the RoHS directive. On request, we would be happy to provide an individual statement for a specific product. This statement is based on information provided by the suppliers of R&M AG and is accurate to the best of our knowledge.

We hope to have served you with this information.

Kind regards,
